

CALIFORNIA CONDOR VISOR

The California condor is one of the most endangered birds in North America. Less than 200 birds exist in the world. Through the California Condor Recovery Program the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are working together with other partners to re-introduce the condor back into the wild.

INSTRUCTIONS

Cut out visor. Be careful not to cut off the feathers. Punch hole and tie elastic or string through the holes. Add tape before punching hole for strength

What do they eat?

California Condors do not kill to get food. They only eat carrion which are animals that have already died such as cows, deer and elk. They are the garbage trucks, trash removers and recyclers of nature.

How big are they?

The California Condor is the largest flying bird in North America and one of the largest flying birds in the world. They have a wing span of about 9 feet. That is about the length of a small to mid-sized car.
